Spouse:

Children:

Parents or guardians:

Please write about how you spend the bulk of your time (for example, work, school, and/or caregiving):

Please write about any leadership positions you hold in your church, school, or community:

Briefly describe previous international travel experience and any languages you speak other than English:

Your health:

Do you have any health or mental health conditions that could directly impact your trip, or have you recently experienced a major life event such as a divorce or death of a family member?
Please let us know especially if you have any food allergies.

Spiritual and community preparation:

What benefits do you see, both for yourself and for others, coming from a short-term mission trip to another country?

As you think about the time you'll spend with Last Bell's staff and young people, what are you most excited about? Most anxious about?

As you prepare for the trip, what will you be praying for?

Discuss your strengths (personality, spiritual, etc.). How do you think these strengths will benefit the team and the overall ministry effort?

Have you ever shared living space with someone outside of your family? Please describe:

How do you believe your team can encourage, equip, or support the Last Bell staff and teens?

Please express any concerns you have about your trip:
